

Sinclair Broadcasting's decision to force its stations to air an anti-Kerry "documentary" days before the election is a clear example of the dangers of media consolidation.

Sinclair uses the public airwaves free of charge, and is obligated by law to serve the public interest.

Instead they are using them for partisan reasons: to promote "their" candidate, George Bush, run their program without commercials. This constitutes an in-kind contribution and they should be fined extensively for each station that airs this program, thus attempting to manipulate our democratic process.

Thank you.
